AROUND THE CITY.

Williams Arrives at the County Jail.

A COLORED WOMAN BEATEN.

Other Events of an Interesting Nature Which Occurred Yesterday in Town.

Deputy Sheriff Wray came into town yesterday accompanied by Mr. A. C. Williams, the man of many aliases, who took the liberty of signing Arthur Gorham's name to a draft. He was taken to the County Jail, where he will remain until he can be examined on a charge of forgery.

Mr. Williams does not resemble very much the elegant "assiety" swell who left here a few days ago for the purpose of bestowing a little of the $500 a week allowance upon the sporting people of that city. He is beginning to show a little asperity in the matter of his arrest and forcible return to Los Angeles and declares his intention of making it hot for somebody. The joke has been carried too far, and he is tired of it. He was perfectly willing to talk to the reporters who sought an audience, although upon Mr. Maynes, of the Nadeau, who called and offered to shake hands with him, he turned a very cold shoulder. Mr. Williams still insists that it will all come out right as soon as Mr. Gorham himself can be heard from. He says that the statement which has appeared in some of the papers that he was of mean origin, is untrue, as his family in Mississippi is wealthy and of high standing. He makes very savage remarks about the society of Los Angeles, into which it appears that he supposes himself to have been received, and he threatens damaging disclosures about some prominent ladies if they do not exert themselves to have this prosecution stopped. It is needless to say that nobody appears to be very much terrified at the threat.

A party of gentlemen were discussing Williams' case in a saloon yesterday afternoon, when one of them remarked: "Well, the fellow, after all, did look like an aristocrat." "How?" asked one of the others. "He gave one the impression of not having any brains," was the reply.

ASSAULTED A WOMAN.

She Resisted His Attentions, and He Choked Her.

A large negro man by the name of Charles Harper was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault to murder. He went into a low lodging-house on Aliso street, used only by people of his own race, and entered the room of a young colored woman who was living there. He informed her that she must not receive the attentions of other men than himself, and swore that if she did not consent to be his mistress exclusively, he would kill her. She became frightened and started to call for help, but he grasped her around the throat and threw her upon the bed. According to the account which she gave afterward, he set about killing her by beating her over the head with his fists and choking her. When her screams finally brought help he had succeeded in almost strangling her; the blood was gushing from her nose and ears, and she was fainting from loss of breath. The last thing he tried to do was to stuff a large pocket-book down her throat.

When help came to the woman Harper bolted out of the room and was running down the street at a lively rate when Officer Dugan overtook him. He was captured and brought to the station.

THE UNION IN DANGER.

War Pending Amongst the Insurance Companies.

There is blood on the face of the moon as far as the insurance companies are concerned, and it looks as if the great Pacific Union is to collapse. The trouble originates with the New Zealand Company, which has suddenly pronounced its own independence and determination to conduct its business as it see fit. To thoroughly explain the matter, a short resumé of the history of the Union is necessary. It was organized on April 5th, 1885, with the object of protecting the different agencies and maintaining rates which were suffering heavily, as far as the underwriters were concerned, on account of the number of fire losses. By the original terms of the Union, it was agreed that salaried officers or extra commissions were to be allowed to all the accepted cities, that is those that were in operation at different places before the Union was formed. It was further agreed that this extra commission power could be inherited by the companies, provided it was placed in the hands of agents who had never been conducting affairs for any other member of the Union.

The first outcome of this was a war. The Southern California Insurance Company refused to sign the contracts, and was accordingly outlawed. No other company was allowed to take a risk on a premium drawn up by the Southern, thereby compelling that company to take all its heavy risks alone, or else turn over the whole thing to the Union. Such a state of things was very unpleasant, and finally resulted in the boycotted company joining the clan, and things went harmoniously for a while.

The next storm was raised by the New Zealand Company, the manager of which, Mr. Hugh Craig, appointed an agent here in the person of Mr. George Bradbere, and gave him a salaried position. This was in opposition to the rules of the Union, which are that to no other than the accepted companies can salaries be paid, and fixing in lieu thereof a maximum commission of 20 per cent. The New Zealand Company pleaded that it was not in Los Angeles before this was ackkowledged, but it was pointed out that the company had formally withdrawn for a certain period. Then the Zealanders said that Mr. Bradbee was a Southern California manager, and not an agent at all, but this claim was disallowed, and the company was fined $250.

The result has been a strike. The New Zealand Company announces that it will keep a salaried official here if it wants to, and in return the Pacific Union has declared all rates off after the 5th day of August. This means a war among the insurance companies, and consequently a good opportunity for the public to secure cheap premiums. During the other conflict, property on which the Union insurance is 2½ per cent., was rated for 60 cents per $100, and as business places are usually contracted for for one year, and dwelling houses for three years, some good opportunities are coming.

Insurance men say that in all probability the Pacific Union will go under altogether. During the five years it has been in existence it has cost the underwriters $260,000, for the usual tax is ½ of 1 per cent of the premium. Manager Stillman's salary alone is $6,000 per annum, and there are many other well-paid officials. At present the work of the Union is prospective. Every insurance report goes to the general agent, and then the contracts are examined, and if approved are stamped. The whole thing now rests with the New Zealand company, and if it keeps the position it has taken there will be lively times a couple of months from now. A war would mean the collapse of a number of smaller companies, for they could not pay expenses on low rate premiums.

LOWER CALIFORNIA.

A Chat With Governor Torres—The Massac Deal.

Señor Luis E. Torres, Governor of Lower California, was sitting in the Nadean House lobby watching the throng of recreation-seekers passing to and fro, when a HERALD man dropped in yesterday afternoon. When questioned as to matters on the Peninsula, His Excellency said:

"Things are rather quiet down there just now. At the Santa Clara mines there are, however, 700 or 800 men encamped, and as they are coming and going all the time, it makes that part of the country a little active. A good many of them are prospecting, but several stands have been made and there is already one mill in operation."

Speaking of the Massac deal, Señor Torres said: "We are very glad to have the Chinese down there, for at present the labor supply is not equal to the demand. The natives do not care to work for anyone but themselves, because if they want to mine they can do so on their own account. The importation of Mongolian laborers by Mr. Masac will, therefore, be very beneficial to our part of the country; also to the Chinamen, because they can get plenty of work and good treatment, and also to Lower California, because Chinese immigration is especially desired there."

Governor Torres will leave this morning for his headquarters at Ensenada.

THE FOURTH.

Arrangements in Progress for Its Celebration.

The Fourth of July Committee rooms will be open until 9:30 every evening, for the benefit of those who will be unable to visit them during the daytime. The rooms are at No. 127½ West First street, and have been given to the committee by the Union League. The parade promises to be a great success. Several labor organizations have signified a desire to show their numerical strength on this occasion, and several exhibitions of the wonders of Southern California will be features of the parade. A "Horrible" band will be organized, and those who desire to join will meet at the rooms of the committee this evening. The Printing, Decoration and Literary Committees will meet this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Nationalist Meeting.

Turn Verein Hall was again well filled yesterday afternoon, at the third meeting of the National League. Hon. A. C. Fish, of the firm of Fish Bros., wagon manufacturers of Racine, Wis., presided. Miss L. A. Off, the Secretary, was absent, and Mr. A. Vinette was appointed Secretary pro tem. The President read extracts from the "Forum," showing that the ablest thinkers are aware that the inevitable tendency of progress in industries is towards association and co-operation on an increasing scale, and that they will probably have to be placed under State control for their continued progression. In reference to the bill passed last week by the German Reichstag to insure aged workingmen, he quoted Bismarck's plea, as follows:

"The fear of introducing a Socialistic element into our legislation need not deter us; for so far from this being a novelty, it is only a development of the modern state idea springing from Christian morality, that the State is bound to promote the prosperity of all its members, and especially the necessitous."

Rev. Mr. Bowen, of the New Church, Ontario, Cal., said he had read "Looking Backward," and considered it as carrying Christian principles into practical everyday life.

Mr. Keith said that Jesus, when asked his views on state affairs, always gave an evasive answer because he foresaw that the individual had to be educated into the principles of a common brotherhood before it could find a voice in legislation.

Mrs. A. F. Smith stated that the co-operative industry heretofore has mainly been presented as a material benefit, and there has not been enough in it to satisfy the spiritual craving of mankind.

Mr. Biddle thought the movement would ere long be crystallized into a political party.

A committee was appointed to request Mrs. Florence Williams to deliver a lecture next Sunday, under

THE NEW RULES.

They are to Regulate the Police Force.

A CATECHISM FOR OFFICERS.

What is Demanded of Applicants Some Startling Requirements. A General Synopsis.

The Police Commissioners, at their last meeting, adopted a code of rules to be observed by the department. These are to be printed in a small leather-covered manual, together with a quantity of miscellaneous information of a sort which is likely to be useful to the men when they are on their beats. The rules are taken, in a great measure, from those in use in the city of Cleveland. They are about two hundred in number, and cover every branch of the service, from the patrolmen to the Chief. They are to be carefully read and studied, and strictly observed, so the introductory mandate sets forth, by every member of the force. Any man who shall violate any of the provisions is liable to be called before the Commission.

In the very beginning, the rules detail a number of offenses, the commission of which shall make an officer liable to reprimand, suspension, deduction of pay or dismissal from the force, according to the nature and aggravation of the offense. These are: Intoxication, disobedience, profane or harsh language, disrespect to superior officers, unnecessary violence to a prisoner, neglect in paying debts, lack of energy, incapacity, mental or physical, violation of any criminal law, making known any proposed movement of the force, receiving money or articles of value, disrespectful language to or about a brother officer. For intoxication while on duty the penalty is dismissal.

There are a variety of the drawbacks about the business of being a policeman as appears from these rules. The police officer may not follow any other calling in his leisure time, he cannot smoke when wearing his uniform on the streets or in public places, and the wearing even of a helmit constitutes a uniform. He cannot belong to any military company, may not sell tickets to entertainments, cannot go bail for any of his friends who may happen to get into trouble and cannot be party to any kind of a compromise between thieves and the owners of stolen goods. He must keep his uniform and his person always neat and clean, must put in a good deal of time studying the rogues gallery so that he may recognize the tough characters when he sees them. He cannot play billiards or cards in a saloon or take a drink there when he is wearing his uniform. He can carry no weapon except that authorized by the Chief, that is to say no knife or slung shot.

Some of the rules are interesting as suggesting the offenses which must have been committed to call them into existence. Card-playing is not allowed about the station house; no presents may be made to superiors—that is to say, there can be no taking up of subscriptions for any scheme of presentation. One rule declares that no man shall be appointed by reason of his religious belief, and that the men shall not engage in religious discussions. At elections the officer may vote as he pleases, but he must not make use of his influence to help one side or the other. It is a part of his duty on his beat to observe the couduct of all merchant patrolmen, and if he notices any of them neglecting their duty, to report that fact.

When the officer is ill he will be allowed half pay for twenty days. If he has met with any kind of an accident when on duty that causes him to be disabled, he will enjoy full pay and free medical treatment for thirty days. Beyond that time he will receive such pay as the Commissioners may see fit to give, but it can never be more than half pay.

The rules which will throw a number of men off the force are those with regard to eligibility of candidates for positions. Of course, if the rules were subjected to a legal test, they could not be made retroactive; but as the Commission is sole judge of its own acts in this particular, and choses to make the rules not only for its subsequent guidance, but also, so to speak, for its previous correction, it can indulge in all the ex post facto legislation it sees fit. One of the rules of this sort has already been made public, that requiring that every applicant should have voted at the election preceding the date of his application. There is one other, which has not been made public nor commented upon, which requires that every applicant should be over 25 years and under 50, at least 5 feet 7 inches in height, and must weigh 150 pounds without an overcoat. This is rule 180, and if the present force is keel-hauled to bring it up to that standard, a number of men who have imagined themselves all right are liable to be struck by the lightning which Hervey Lindley and D. Gilbert Dexter are supposed to carry around in their coat-tail pockets.

There are a number of rules which relate to the management of affairs about the station. No one will be allowed to speak to prisoners after 5 p. m. This will be awkward for the police reporters, unless the Commission sees fit to make an exception of them. Loafers are not to be allowed in the station. Prisoners are not to be treated to shower baths, or handled any more roughly than necessity requires.

The duties of clerks, janitors, bailiffs, Captain, Deputy Chief and Chief are accurately described by rule. The only people who appear to escape the share of laws and regulations are the Police Commissioners themselves, who, by a singular coincidence, framed the rules. The Chief is compelled to wear a uniform, but he is graciously allowed to pick out any style and variety he pleases, which is only another way of insinuating that the Chief of Police must buy himself a new suit. Everybody about the force must wear a black necktie, which is rough on Captain Harris who is addicted to gaudy colors. No officer shall appear on duty not wearing his uniform. This applies to clerks, deputy chief and everybody.

The manual containing the rules will also have a very complete guide to the city, its churches, courts and judicial officers' residences, city and county offices and the residences of the officers, fire alarm boxes, engine houses, parks, cemeteries, hospitals, schools, hotels, railway time tables, banks, business blocks, and an infinite variety of useful information.

This is followed by a very remarkable document which is nothing more nor less than a policeman's catechism. It begins "What is a policeman," and from the answer given it would naturally be inferred that he was something between a hero and an angel. Instruction is given by this question and answer system on the duties of the office and the law covering the making of arrests. Then comes a chapter of advice to a young policeman which will probably be credited to Mr. Dexter, whereas it was copied from a printed book. Last of all comes a chapter on the way to restore persons apparently dead, and the best means of preventing hydrophobia. What service the latter can be in a country where mad dogs are unknown does not appear.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

The New Church of the Trinity. Topics of the Ministers.

The new building of the Church of the Trinity was dedicated yesterday morning. The edifice is situated at the corner of Seventh and Fort streets, and, while the exterior is not very imposing, the interior is most conveniently arranged and has a very inviting appearance. At one end of the auditorium is the platform whereon the pulpit stand is placed. Back of this, in a recess, is the loft for the organ and choir. It is raised considerably above the pulpit platform. At the right of the platform, in gilt letters, the following appears upon the wall:

"O come, let us worship and bow down, let us kneel before the Lord our Maker, for He is our God and we are the people of his pasture and the sheep of his hand. God is our refuge and strength, a very pleasant help in trouble. Have we not one father? Hath not a God created us? Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for God is with me; his rod and his staff, they comfort me."

At the left of the pulpit the following also appears upon the wall in gilt letters:

"Hear, O Israel! The Lord our God is one Lord, and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. This is my first commandment, and the second is like, namely, this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets."

Below the pulpit and extending to the bow window in front are the seats for the audience, enough to seat about 600 people. On the back portion of the auditorium is a balcony capable of seating about 150, and from every part of the church the words of the preacher can be distinctly heard.

Yesterday morning the platform was a mass of flowers and foliage arranged in various shapes and forms, and these added to the brightness of the carpet, frescoing and furniture gave the church a very comfortable appearance. At 11 o'clock every seat was taken, and the service began with an organ voluntary, after which Rev. Dr. Fay offered a short prayer. The choir sang "Old Hundred," and Rev. Dr. Deere led in prayer and exhortation. The choir and audience sang "Come Thou Almighty King," after which Psalm No. 95 was read for the first Scripture lesson. The choir sang "Now unto the King Eternal," and I Kings, viii, 27-23, and John, iv, 7-14, was read from the second scripture lesson by the Rev. E. S. Conger. An anthem by the choir was followed by Rev. B. F. McDaniel and then Dr. Fay preached a dedication sermon appropriate to the occasion. The dedication sermon was read responsively by Dr. Fay and the congregation, and Rev. Oskar Clute offered a dedicatory prayer. A hymn written for the occasion and sung to the tune of "Old Hendred" preceded the benediction.

NOTES.

At the First Baptist Church yesterday evening, Children's Day services were given by the children of the Sunday school.

"Relationship of Jesus" was Rev. R. Mayne Irvine's subject at the morning service in the East Los Angeles Presbyterian Church.

At the First New Church Society, Rev. D. V. Bowen preached in the morning on "Divine Providence, or the Lesson of the Johnstown Disaster."

Rev. W. A. Knighten, at Grace M. E. Church, spoke on "Paul's Debts" in the morning, and "A Stayed Mind and a Great Keeper" in the evening.

"Satan at Church" was the morning topic of Rev. H. M. Du Bose at the Trinity M. E. Church, and "The Departed Christ" was his subject in the evening.

Rev. J. H. Phillips, of the East Los Angeles Congregational Church, chose for his evening topic, "Did Providence Destroy Johnstown?"

Rev. R. G. Hutchins took for his topic yesterday morning at the First Congregational Church, "Sacred Music," and in the evening he preached on "A study of the resurrection of Jesus."

At the East Los Angeles M. E. Church Rev. H. Cox preached in the morning on "Littleness and greatness in man," and in the evening on "The man who had not on the wedding garment."

Rev. R. S. Cantine continued his lecture last evening at the Fort-street M. E. Church on "The Doom of the Drunkard."

Rev. Wm. Ormiston, D. D., of New York, will address the ladies of the missionary societies of Los Angeles, at 2:30 p. m. today in the First Presbyterian Church. There is a general invitation extended to this meeting of ladies and gentlemen outside the societies.

At the communion services yesterday forenoon, in the Church of Immanuel, 76 new members were received. The attendance was very large and the exercises were deeply interesting. Dr. W. J. Chichester, the pastor, delivered an eloquent and impressive discourse on the tender and spiritual character of the Apostle John, whose receptivity he likened to the fleece of Gideon, which absorbed and was saturated with the dews of heaven. Yet, while he was thus tender and spiritual and filled with the divine love of the Master, he was so strong and terrible in his spiritual impulses that he was called the Son of Thunder, the Boanerges of the Apostolic Twelve. The eloquent divine drew a graphic and striking picture of the soft and beautiful characteristics of the disciple who had so faithfully preserved and transmitted to us the sublime teachings and exemplary acts of the Man of Sorrows.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Note and Comment on the Doings of "the Fancy."

Last Friday Johnny Griffin, who is matched to fight Tommy Warren for the featherweight championship and a purse of 1,800, arrived in San Francisco, having crossed the continent with Young Mitchell and Billy Jordan. The papers of the Bay City speak in high terms of the boy, and the impression seems very general among the knowing ones that Tommy's name will be Dennis after the two bantams meet.

***

Still, you can't "most always generally tell." Tommy is made of capital stuff and is more than a little bit of a general. Arguing, as Tom Flynn, of the Chronicle, most learnedly does, from the fights each of them has had in the past, is not always a safe or satisfactory way of sizing up men. You cannot reason on pugilism by the methods of the syllogism. However neatly you fix your "major" and "minor" premises, you are apt to find your conclusion completely at fault. Like all sports that do not come under the category of "sure-shot games," there is a glorious uncertainty about the ring which often upsets the calculations of the knowing ones. Ask Mose Gunst, if you don't think so.

***

Some of us are old enough to remember that terrible fight between Heenan and Sayers, which was so gamely contested and so unsatisfactory in its issue, and it will also be in the recollection of many how the Benecia Boy was finally whipped by Tom King. Yet Tom King was never dreamt of as having a chance with Sayers. Even Jem Mace, who, notwithstanding his splendid sparring abilities and his persistent bluffing of both Heenan and Sayers, knew better than anybody that he had no chance with Sayers, whipped Tom King easily. Now how would you go to work to make a pugilistic syllogism out of that à la Thomas Emmet Flynn of the Chronicle?

***

The only thing that makes us hopeful that Warren will win, is that, somehow, all the Eastern fighters that come here meet their Waterloo on the Coast. Why this is so, we do not pretend to say, but certain it is that they don't cover themselves with much glory in their encounters in the Golden State.

***

Young Mitchell, who has just made a tour of the East and been accorded a grand reception, earning golden opinions and getting gold-headed canes, is, to our thinking, very near to being the best middle-weight in America, and we have great hopes of seeing him at no distant day wearing the champion belt in that class. Besides being an A 1 artist with his "mauleys," he is a modest, courteous and square young fellow.

***

The San Francisco Sporting News, the first number of which appeared on the 8th inst., and which promises to be the ideal organ of sport for the Coast, suggests that our man Ellingsworth should tackle Mike Lucie. No, thank you, gentlemen. Ellingsworth wants none of the Marine's "leavings." He offered over and over again—or rather the Southern California Athletic Association backed him—to face the Marine, and he does not now propose to have the man the Marine whipped foisted off on him. We want the San Francisco sports to understand that we take no back seat in this business from them, and any time they choose to trot out the best middleweight they have got, man and money will be found ready here to give them satisfaction.

***

By the way, speaking of Ellingsworth, here is a shabby bit of spite-work on the part of Johnny Reagan. In a letter to a member of the California Athletic Club, he very gratuitously goes out of his way to give a slap to Joe. He says that "there are twenty-five men in this city (meaning New York we presume) who could lick Ellingsworth." This is a yellow-dog snarl on the part of Reagan which Ellingsworth can easily afford to despise. But we should above all things like to see a meeting between the two men in the magic ring, just in order that Johnny might get the conviction beaten into his head that he, at any rate, is not one of that fabulous "twenty-five."

***

Without prejudice, we venture to predict that Reagan will have got what the Irishman called his "bellyful of a good 'batin'" when Mitchell is through with him in October. Then Ellingsworth will, we doubt not, stand ready to give Mitchell all the show he wants—the fight, of course, to come off in this city.

***

Warren and Griffin meet on the 28th, Dempsey and La Blanche on August 27th, Killen and Joe McAuliffe on September 11th, Meyer and Jack McAuliffe in the same month, and Reagan and Mitchell in October. These events, together with the fights which are sure to be arranged by our two local clubs here in the course of the season, will keep the interest in the manly art alive, and the knowing ones busy in picking out the winners. Of course we are not overlooking the meeting next month between Kilrain and Sullivan, nor the fight between Charley Turner, the colored Hercules of Stockton, and another colored "pug," Wiley Evans, which comes off on Wednesday evening in San Francisco.

***

A gentleman in whose judgment we have every confidence gives the following tips on these events in the order of mention: The winners will be, bar accidents, Griffin, Dempsey, Killen, Jack McAuliffe, Mitchell, Kilrain and Turner.

***

It makes one sad to learn that, in spite of his grand physique, the drain of dissipation has brought Sullivan down to a pitch when even his own friends decline to put up money on him against Kilrain. He is said to be now "a gray-headed old man." In spite of all the ugliness of his disposition, which always was an offensively prominent feature in him, there is no denying that, at his best, he was unquestionably head and shoulders above all his contemporaries. Indeed, we question if it is saying too much to assert that he was—the pity of it that we cannot say is—the best pugilist in this or any other country, in this or any other age.

***

Lovers of the manly art who are fortunate enough to be members of the Southern California Athletic Association will, beyond all question, have a treat on Wednesday night when Billy Manning and Mulholland try conclusions. Both men are "game to the heels," and both will enter the ring in the pink of condition. Manning has been most rigid in his adherence to the orders of his trainer, and he looks fit to fight for a man's life. Mulholland has been equally diligent in getting himself into prime fettle, and yesterday he tipped the scales at 136 pounds. He states that he is to fight cautiously and with a resolute determination to win. "I know," he says, "that I have a hard man to face, and you can bet that I will not miss a single chance to secure the victory." "Mul." has fought 33 fights, winning all of them except three, and these were declared drawn.

***

This is really the first time Manning has had a fair show on the coast. His fight with Tom Cleary, while it clearly demonstrated Billy's gameness, was a foregone conclusion, for Tom had every advantage of height, weight and reach. We have a whole lot of confidence in Billy's giving a good account of himself on Wednesday night.

***

The HERALD of Thursday morning will give a full account of the mill in detail.

AMUSEMENTS.

Manager Wyatt's Benefit.

On Thursday evening Manager H. C. Wyatt will be tendered a benefit at the Grand Opera House. On this occasion there should not be a vacant seat. Manager Wyatt has given Los Angeles the best attractions possible, and even now has an opera company of his own rehearsing. Every patron of the theatres will probably be out on Thursday night at the benefit, reserved seats for which are now on sale.

At the Grand.

Mr. H. Powers' company will begin a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House this evening, presenting two new and picturesque Irish dramas. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings The Ivy Leaf will be given, and The Fairy's Well will be the attraction for the balance of the week. The Ivy Leaf is one of the few modern Irish dramas that does not falsify and belittle the Irish character; does not deal in low life scenes and vulgarisms, but lifts up the Irish character to its true and proper sphere of respectability. On this account it is said to be eminently worthy the support of respectable Irish people, as well as those who respect the blessed land with the emerald turf.

The People's Theatre.

The Banker's Daughter is the present attraction at the People's Theatre. It drew large houses both afternoon and evening yesterday, and will continue to do so during the rest of the week.

A Musical Addition.

Miss Annie Dacre, the English prima donna, whom Mr. Wyatt has secured for his stock company, has taken up her quarters at the Nadeau for the present. Los Angeles will have the honor of hearing the first professional efforts of Miss Dacre in America, for this is her first visit to the New World, and she has come straight through to this city. Miss Dacre is a great favorite in England, where she has been engaged in the leading theaters for some time past, and has just concluded a two years' engagement in The Barrister at the Comedy, London.

SAN PEDRO'S NEW CHURCH.

Important Dedicatory Services Held Yesterday.

San Pedro yesterday witnessed one of the most impressive ceremonies of the Catholic religion, in the dedication of the new church constructed there by the Rev. C. Tanquerey. The morning train from Los Angeles brought to the scene the clerical dignitaries who were to officiate, and also a large number of Catholics, including delegations from the Young Men's Institutes Nos. 14 and 36. Added to these were the leading local residents, many hundred strong, so when the services began there was a vast attendance. The high priestship was sustained by the Right Rev. Bishop Mora, and the sermon of the day was preached by the Rev. Father Meyer, of St. Vincent's College. At the conclusion of the dedication, high mass was given, and then adjournment was taken to San Pedro Hall, where an excellent luncheon was served. The remainder of the day was agreeably passed viewing the sights of the Harbor City, and the excursionists returned to town at 6 o'clock, well satisfied with their day's outing.

Though Shaken Like a Leaf

By the most trivial causes, weak nerves are easily susceptible of invigoration, a term which also imports, in this instance, quietude The nervous have but to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters systematically to overcome that super-sensitiveness of the human sensorium, which is subversive of all bodily comfort and mental tranquility, and which reacts most hurtfully upon the system. The difficulty underlying this, as well as many other ailments, is imperfect assimilation, no less than incomplete digestion of the food. In the discharge of both the digestive and assimilative functions, the Bitters are the most potent, the most reliable auxiliary. As the body regains vigor and regularity by its aid, the brain and nervous system are also benefited. Persons subject to the influence of malaria, dyspeptic and rheumatic invalids, and persons whose kidneys are inactive, should also use the Bitters.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION, 123-5 West Second street, between Spring and Fort, Los Angeles.

MONDAY, JUNE 17, 1889.

The Forthcoming Illustrated Herald.

During the coming week the ILLUSTRATED HERALD will be issued. It will be the ninth of the series, the first having made its appearance about this time in 1880. It is no exaggeration to say that the initial number of this publication did more to inaugurate what is known as the Los Angeles "boom" than any other single agency. The current number will comprise forty-eight pages, and will surpass all its predecessors in splendor of illustrations and copiousness and value of letterpress. It is the frozen truth that no publication devoted to advertising a section has ever been issued comparable to the forthcoming ILLUSTRATED HERALD. It is simply superb. It will be sold for fifteen cents per single copy, and to newsdealers and others in quantities at a reduced figure.

Abandoning an Approved Policy.

A great attempt is being made to manufacture capital for Mr. Blaine on account of the attitude of the American Commissioners at Berlin in the Samoan controversy. As a matter of fact, as the HERALD has repeatedly pointed out, Mr. Blaine's attitude in the matter is substantially that of Mr. Bayard, and if there is any credit due for spirit and dash in the premises, it really belongs to Mr. Cleveland's administration. But there are very grave doubts, indeed, as to whether, from an American point of view, our whole action has not been wrong ab initio. A precedent has been established by which the United States has recognized the right of European powers to decide what shall be done with the islands of the Pacific. This may have very far-reaching consequences in the future, it is most emphatically to be deprecated, and our own position in the affair is decidedly untenable. The United States as a nation has no more right to say what the Samoans shall do in their domestic affairs than Germany or England. From first to last it is a sheer piece of usurpation, and only to be defended on the ground that might makes right. It is very important that a nation with the fine record of the United States should keep it unsullied, especially when a departure from its traditional methods of diplomacy is involved. We have precisely as much right to create a scheme of government, with land courts and other incidents of dominion, in Samoa, that we have in Russia—neither more nor less. We have always hitherto, at least theoretically, held that no European government has any right to meddle with the islands of the Pacific, and we have had an oblique eye on the Hawaiian islands particularly in taking that stand. If England, Germany and the United States have the right to determine the political destinies of Samoa, in conference, it would seem that all that is needed to assure them the same rights as to the Sandwich Islands would be a complication as a result of which Kalakaua, instead of Malietoa, should be deported and held a prisoner. On a parity with the proceedings in the case of Samoa, a conference should then be held between England, Germany and the United States, and, if the plenipotentiaries of the first two powers should outvote the United States, having by our own act established the precedent, this country would find itself in a very embarrassing predicament. While the Monroe doctrine did not in express terms embrace the islands of the Pacific, its spirit unquestionably did, and the Berlin conference and its outcome will stand in the way of its future assertion. In the best days of American diplomacy the United States was careful to avoid those entangling alliances with foreign powers, of which the Berlin conference is the first conspicuous example. This country declined, fortunately for our effectiveness in case of a war with any considerable maritime nation, to be a member of the Conference of Paris, at which certain European powers abolished privateering and declared it piracy as respected the signatories to the agreement. That was a wise policy of abstention from participating in European councils that ought to have been persevered in.

An Extreme View of the Matter.

A large proportion of the American press is disposed to take an extreme view of the circumstances growing out of the murder of Dr. Cronin. Even admitting that some members of the Clan Na Gael may have been concerned in that atrocity, as seems very likely, it would by no means justify the widespread denunciation of that organization in which a portion of the newspapers of this country has indulged. The United States will certainly not consent to take any stand less pronounced as to the rights of political agitators than has been uniformly maintained by England. When, at the beginning of the present century, an attempt was made to assassinate the first Napoleon, who was at that time First Consul of France, some of the assassins took refuge in London. It was at the period which followed the peace of Amiens, when, for a brief period, France and England were on good terms. Bonaparte sought to reach the most noted of the refugees through the courts, and failed most signally. At a later stage of the relations between England and France, in 1858, when a decided entente cordiale prevailed between the two countries, and shortly after Victoria had pinned the garter to the leg of Napoleon III., the nephew of his uncle—the Augustulus to the Augustus of the Napoleonic dynasty—tried to convict one of the men who had been engaged in the Orsini conspiracy in a British court, and again the failure was most signal. The efforts made in Downing street were quite as futile as those made before the English juryman. John Bull has always stoutly maintained the right of asylum for political agitators as a part of the unwritten constitution of the "right little, tight little isle." Mazzini and his associates always made their headquarters in England, nor was John Bull at all particular as to whether those to whom he extended his hospitality occasionally found it expedient to use the dagger or the knife.

It will puzzle those American journalists who have gone off half cocked in the matter to show how the United States could well extend a less degree of tolerance to political agitation than prevails in ultra-aristocratic England. A Republic could not well afford to be less indulgent to revolutionary organizations than a monarchy.

One thing the people of Cook county, Illinois, have clearly the right to do, and that is, to hang the murderers of Cronin, if they can find them, and that they will undoubtedly do if any jury can be satisfied of their guilt, whether they belong to the Clan Na Gael or no. And that is what the people of England would have done instanter if they had found that Mazzini or any of his compatriots had murdered anybody in England. But when it comes to heated invectives against a whole order, with threats of suppression, on account of the asserted acts of a few of its members, it is all bosh and highly un-American. There is no reason why the American even of former Know-Nothing proclivities, should lose his head. There are local laws which cover cases of individual crime, and there are certain treaties of the United States with foreign powers, and, between the two, substantial justice is sure to be done. There is no earthly necessity for anything hysterical in the press, nor for the calling for the enactment of repressive statutes which are foreign to the genius of republican institutions, and which even the people of England would not tolerate for a moment.

The Battle of Bunker Hill.

The anniversary of the initial battle of the Revolutionary War has of late years lost the significance which attended its recurrence down to a few decades ago. At one time this anniversary was scarcely less of a National holiday than the Fourth of July. Now it often passes without even the poor homage of a display of colors on the public flagstaffs. This is, really, not due to the decadence of reverence for the tremendous events that gave birth to the Republic, for we have just seen, in the Centennial celebration of the inauguration of Washington, how responsive the American people are to the patriotic spirit of '76. The Battle of Bunker Hill is not only memorable on account of its historical significance, but from its rugged picturesqueness and the stern and determined courage which it demonstrated in the raw recruits, who, though poorly armed, held their own in a pitched battle with the disciplined troops of England. The observance of the anniversary may fall into desuetude, but the event itself will always be distinguished as one of the most conspicuous in American history.

WOODRUFF has made a very sensational confession in the Cronin murder case. Whilst the veracity of the fellow is very threadbare, his disclosures will probably lead to more substantive facts in relation to this mystery than the Chicago police have yet been able to unearth.

A Sudden Death.

At 2 o'clock this morning, a man named Alpha Oakes came to the police station to report the sudden death of a woman named Mrs. Lyons, in a lodging-house belonging to Mr. A. H. Johnson, grocer, at 616 Spring street. The deceased had been suffering for some time from dropsy of the heart, and it is supposed that this was the cause of her somewhat sudden, though not altogether unexpected, demise. She had died about an hour before the notice was sent. The night clerk at the Police Station immediately notified Coroner Meredith, who will hold an inquest today if it be deemed necessary.

A Stabbing Case.

STOCKTON, June 16.—Charlie Zista, an Italian gardener, was stabbed three times this afternoon by a companion. The wounded man is cut in the head and shoulders, but not dangerously. Zista took his assailant's horse and wagon for a ride and, on his return, the owner attacked him. Zista refuses to give the name of his assailant.

The Situation in Seattle.

SEATTLE, W. T., June 16.—One thousand laborers were paid off at the Armory today by Capt. Carr at the head labor bureau, for work done in behalf of the city. The total amount disbursed was over $4,000. The saloons are still closed.

He Will Swing.

BAKER CITY, Ore., June 16.—The jury in the trial of Clinton Pennington for the unprovoked killing of Charles B. Balcom, have brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

Russia's Bellicose Movement.

LONDON, June 16.—The Belgrade correspondent of the Daily News upholds the accuracy of his statement that Russia has proposed the immediate conclusion of a military convention with Servia.

A Dishonest Official.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—Frank L. Woodruff, late Assistant Postmaster at Lawrence, Kansas, has been arrested on a charge of embezzling between $5,000 and $6,000.

WOODRUFF SQUEALS

And Makes a Clean Breast of the Business.

DEAD GIVE-AWAY ON SULLIVAN.

Several Others Denounced as "Art and Part" in the Crime. Some Discrepancies.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

CHICAGO, June 16.—All the previous "confessions" of Woodruff, the horse-thief, who has been indicted for complicity in the Cronin tragedy, were eclipsed this morning by an entirely new story from him published in an extra edition of the Times. He contradicts and discredits every "statement" heretofore attributed to him, and now appears in the role of an ex-member of the Canadian militia, claiming that he was trusted by Cronin's alleged murderers because he furnished the Fenian spies with valuable information during one of their military raids into Canada.

HIS ADVENT IN CHICAGO.

Woodruff says he arrived in Chicago March 26th, and obtained work from a gardener on Southport avenue, not far from the Carlson cottage. After three or four days' work for the gardener, Woodruff was taken sick. His narrative says: "With the intention of going to the county hospital, I drifted into O'Sullivan's place. I made up my mind he was a Fenian, and reminded him of certain scenes during the Fenian raid into Canada.

VOLUNTEER AND TRAITOR.

"I went over during that raid as a volunteer, in the Twenty-Fourth Kent battalion, whose headquarters were at Chatham. We went as far as Niagara. At that time I was assigned to the Adjutant's department, and gave to some Fenian spies who came to our camp such points as I learned while in that place. That was my first connection with the Clan Na Gael. O'Sullivan told me he would get me work, if possible. From there I came down and went to work at Dean's livery stable."

WOODRUFF AND COUGHLIN.

Woodruff tells that he met Detective Coughlin soon after and had a drink with him. He conveyed the impression that the detective knew him to be a thief, and that he believed the detective to be a "fence." While walking together, they met Sullivan, and the latter mentioned Woodruff's request for employment. Coughlin quizzed Woodruff that a man in his line should want work.

MEETING WITH MELVILLE.

Woodruff then told of meeting, early in April, one Melville, whom he had known in California. Melville, he said, was a great friend of Desmond and "Sand-lot" Kearney" during the labor troubles there. Melville and Detective Coughlin were drinking together in a south side saloon, and Woodruff joined them. Coughlin soon left, and the other two made the rounds of the disreputable houses for awhile, after which Melville took his leave, saying that he was stopping at McCoy's Hotel. Melville gave Woodruff a small sum of money, and said he wanted to see him again.

M'DOUGAL ALIAS WILLIAMS.

A few days afterward Woodruff met Coughlin on the North Side, talking with a man whom Woodruff calls McDougal. He claims that McDougal told him that his name was not Williams. Woodruff had known McDougal or Williams as an old worker for the Clan Na Gael. After a private talk between Coughlin and Williams, the latter took Woodruff to the West Side and talked with him. When Woodruff told Williams he was "busted," the latter said: "Why don't you go down and see Alexander Sullivan?" Woodruff replied that he was not ready to be sent to Europe. The pair then proceeded to 117 Clark street. This is the place where, as has been frequently published, the furniture of the Carlson cottage was first stored.

SENT TO SEE SULLIVAN.

Williams would not tell Woodruff what he wanted him to do, but urged him, a few days later, to go over and see Alexander Sullivan. He finally did so, and told him McDougal had sent him over.

Mr. Sullivan said: "McDougal? Oh, you mean Williams, don't you?"

Woodruff replied "Yes," and Sullivan said he had nothing to say; that he had never met Woodruff before.

READY FOR ANYTHING.

Woodruff told him he was looking for a job, and, on Sullivan asking him what kind of work he would like, he replied:

"Anything in God's world, if there is any money in it."

Sullivan looked at him sharply, and replied: "If I hear of anything for you, I'll let Williams know of it."

SULLIVAN PAYS THE RENT.

Next day, on the North Side, when in the company of Williams, they met Sullivan. He took Williams to one side and handed him money, saying: "Now, pay that rent." Then, seeing Woodruff, Sullivan told him he must not take offense at his manner the previous day, as he was very busy, and had a great many applications for jobs.

THE FENIAN CIPHER USED.

The Wednesday before the murder Woodruff met Coughlin, who asked him to take a note to Sullivan. This note was in cipher, the same as had been used by the Fenians when Woodruff was at Niagara. He looked at it and says it read: "Going up to P. O'Sullivan's."

THE CONSPIRATORS' TOOLS.

The remainder of the confession deals mainly with the night of the murder. Coughlin, so Woodruff alleges, paid him $25 to bring to Lincoln avenue, from Dean's livery stable, a conveyance in which the trunk could be carried. Near Ashland and Lincoln avenues, Melville and a man named O'Shea, alias Mike McDougal, joined Woodruff. The latter says this man was a machinist or blacksmith from Philadelphia, but that he had known him in Wichita, Kan. Melville, he said, he had also met before in Peoria in connection with Irish affairs. They drove out to the Carlson cottage, reaching there about 2 p.m. Two men went in and soon after P. O'Sullivan, Melville and Williams came out carrying a trunk, which they placed in the wagon.

NEW VERSION OF THE RIDE.

Here follows a new version of the ride with the trunk and the disposal of the body in the sewer. Woodruff now says the intention was to have the trunk sunk in Lake Michigan off Lincoln Park, but, thinking they were pursued, the plan was abandoned. Woodruff claims that Cronin's instrument case was probably buried, or thrown in the lake, by Melville and Williams when they left the wagon in the woods for a short time at Edgewater. He does not know what disposition was made of the clothing.

AN OFFER TO DEFEND HIM.

Woodruff concludes with the assertion that he has recently been approached by a lawyer, who offered to take his case gratuitously, and that his lawyer had said to keep strict silence, as Alexander Sullivan's attorney would work in unison, and that one of Sullivan's bondsmen had agreed to pay for Woodruff's defense.

OTHER CONFESSIONS BOGUS.

The climax of the whole "confession" is an assertion by Woodruff that all his previous alleged "confessions" are bogus, and that this is "the first and only statement I have made since my arrest," the intimation being that the other "confessions" were given circulation by interested persons to create the impression that he (Woodruff) was a liar.

A DISCREPANCY FOUND.

Woodruff gave his age, when arrested, as 26 years. The last Fenian invasion of Canada occurred about 1866. This would make Woodruff about three years old when, according to his own story, he was a member of the Canadian militia and became intimate with the Fenians.

STILL ANOTHER CONFESSION.

Woodruff was visited in the jail this afternoon, and found deeply engrossed in the preparation of another "confession," which, he says, is to be much more sensational than any of the preceding ones. He reiterated the confession published this morning, but, on close examination, altered it in many important particulars. He said he was only 29 years old, but insisted that he took an active part in the Fenian rebellion, which, he says, occurred in 1873.

A SERIES OF DISCREPANCIES.

His dates do not agree with history. He said he visited the flats at 117 Clark street on April 20th, when the fact is that the flat was vacated by the mysterious stranger on March 22nd. Woodruff's statement that he met Melville on April 2nd, and that the latter was stopping at McCoy's Hotel, is met by the hotel register, which shows that Melville left there on March 20th.

Woodruff further said this afternoon that he was with Dr. Cronin and P. O'Sullivan on the night of and previous to the murder of the Doctor. This conflicts with this morning's confession, in which he says he played cards all that evening. When asked why he told this last story after having told so many others, Woodruff replied: "Well, I was promised the influence of a great paper in my behalf."

NO IMPROPER INFLUENCE.

The Times people, tonight, deny that any improper promises were made to Woodruff. He was told, they say, that they would do what they could for him if he told the truth.

To the Times reporter, who asked Woodruff to explain the discrepancy in his statements about his age, etc., Woodruff explained that it was a proposed Fenian raid in 1875 that he had reference to. He then said that he will be thirty years old next Friday.

A VAIN SEARCH.

The police to-day dug an acre of ground along the beach, near the foot of Graceland avenue, in the search for Cronin's medical instruments, but found nothing.

CONTRADICTORY TESTIMONY.

The Times, tomorrow, will publish a statement from Nic. Paully, a saloon-keeper mentioned in the confession. Paully says he has been in the pay of Police Lieutenant Scheuttler for the past two weeks, to aid in the search for the murderers. He says his sister told him that Woodruff was called out of his saloon on a day when he (Paully) was absent, and was paid some money by a man who, she is satisfied, is Alexander Sullivan. This reveals another apparent discrepancy in the "confession," as Woodruff had it that after leaving Paully's saloon with Williams, Sullivan met them, and paid money to Williams.

WOODRUFF'S STEPFATHER.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—On receipt of telegrams from Chicago that Woodruff, who has been indicted for complicity in the murder of Cronin, had made a confession, claiming to have been a member of the Canadian militia, and to have furnished Fenian spies with valuable information during the raids in Canada, efforts were made to find Harry Black, Woodruff's stepfather. After a long search, it was learned that Black is either now en route to Chicago, or else has arrived there. Woodruff's escapades and especially his last one, have so worn upon Black and his wife, who is Woodruff's mother, that they have purposely kept their movements and whereabouts a secret to avoid publicity and annoyance. Harry Black is cashier of the large house here of A. Schilling & Co., wholesale dealers in teas, coffees, etc. He stands very high in the estimation of his employers and those who know him personally. In general, little reliance was placed on Woodruff's word while here.

WOODRUFF'S BAD RECORD.

During his stay in San Jose, in this State, where his step-father's former home was, he was very depraved, consorting with the most disreputable women. He was commonly known there as Frank Black, though he sometimes called himself Frank Wade. He claimed, at San Jose, that his true name is Frank Bettman.

TO IDENTIFY THE SUSPECTS.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Chicago detectives who are to identify Maroney and McDonald, the suspects in the Cronin case, arrived this morning. A request to see the prisoners was refused, on the ground that it could not be allowed without an order from the District Attorney. It was announced later that the detectives would appear at the Tombs tomorrow morning to identify their men.

The Female Wheelers.

DENVER, June 16.—To-day's ladies' bycicle race between Helen Baldwin, of New York; Jessie Woods, of Philadelphia; Kitty Brown, of Pittsburg; Jessie Oakes, of London, England, and Louise Armiando, of Canada, was concluded at the Athletic Park at 7:30 tonight. Miss Brown won by only 8 feet, making 185 miles 528 feet, Miss Baldwin 185 miles 520 feet, Miss Armiando 175 miles 2 laps, Miss Woods 151 miles 3 laps. While on the track on Tuesday, Miss Oakes took a header, which rendered her insensible for two hours, and forcing her to retire. On Tuesday she made a 5-mile race against the world's record, making it in 17 1-5 seconds and beating the time by 4 1-5 seconds. The ladies leave for Omaha tomorrow, where Miss Oakes and Miss Woods will have a match race with Stanley and Williams, of New York, for $1,500.

A Street Duel to the Death.

CHICAGO, June 16.—John O. Manion, a young farmer near Fayette, Mo., and Richard N. Fowler, his cousin, fought a duel on the streets of that city yesterday. Manion and his wife had separated on account of Fowler's marked attentions to her. When the two men met on the street yesterday they began shooting at each other. Manion was killed and Fowler is probably mortally wounded.

JOHNSTOWN'S SUNDAY.

Rest and Religion a Relief from Hard Labor.

RAILROADS RAPIDLY REPAIRED.

The Drift of Debris Finally Disposed of by Means of Kerosene and the Torch.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

JOHNSTOWN, June 16.—In the few churches remaining services were held today, but the largest meetings of the day took place in the open air. The weather was fair, and the men seemed glad of the opportunity to turn from hard work to religion. Today the wrecked engine of the limited express was hoisted to the tracks at Conemaugh. Double tracks will be laid down as far as Altoona by the middle of the week. There are 3,600 men at work on the Pennsylvania road tracks between Johnstown and South Fork.

Six bodies were recovered today. They were buried without identification.

Tonight 150 barrels of oil were emptied on the drift and ignited. The wreckage is burning fiercely for 200 yards. The debris was searched previous to being fired, but no bodies were found.

Baseball.

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—The Sacramentos defeated the Stocktons today in a fine game of ball. Seigler, Sacramento's new pitcher did great work, and up to the ninth inning, only two hits were made off him. His support was first class and for eight successive innings the Stocktons were whitewashed. In the ninth a ball-muff by Sylvester and hits by Selna, Howard and Behan gave the visitors their only three runs. Harper was a trifle wild, but struck out ten of the Sacramentos. The Capitol City boys did splendid batting in the fifth and sixth innings, making nine runs. Score: 11 to 3.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—The game today at Haight street, between the San Franciscos and Oaklands, was an average exhibition of ball. After the first inning, in which Oakland scored once, they seemed to give the 'Friscos everything their own way. The features of the game were some very pretty double plays. In the first inning a fine double play was made by Donahue, Powers and Hanley, puttting Smalcey out at second and Hardie out at first. The first half of the fifth inning was nearly ended, and two men were out, when the Oaklands became rattled by a series of wild throws and a combination of errors, and the San Franciscos gained five runs. This was the decisive inning of the game. Score: San Francisco 7, Oakland 4.

ASSOCIATION GAMES.

BROOKLYN, June 16.—Brooklyn 3, Cincinnati 4.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—Athletics 5, St. Louis 10.

COLUMBUS, June 16.—The Columbus-Kansas City game was called in the third inning today on account of rain, the score standing 4 to 0 in favor of Columbus.

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—Sylvester, the ex-captain of the Sacramentos, will be released on account of his poor work in the field. Two fielders with records of being heavy batters are en route to this city from the East to join the Sacramentos.

Washed off a Tug.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Early this morning the tug Volante left here for her customary fishing trip to the Cordell fishing banks, 55 miles northwest of this port. After being out three or four hours the sea became so rough that the Captain started on the return trip. Soon after this a heavy wave struck the tug, washing James Devenville off. The tug was stopped and a boat lowered, but he was not seen again, although a long search was made for his body. The deceased leaves a little son about five years of age, his wife having died some years ago.

Asked to Second Sullivan.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 16.—Jack Dempsey, who is training here for his fight with La Blanche, in San Francisco in August, received a despatch from James Wakeley, of New York, one of Sullivan's backers, today, asking him to second Sullivan in his fight with Kilrain near New Orleans. Dempsey fears that the Southern climate will not agree with him. Besides, if he accepts, it will interfere with his training, so he has about concluded not to go.

Re-Arrested on Suspicion.

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—John Smith, accused of being one of the two murderers who foully assassinated Milo Haws, was arrested again this morning. He was released by the Sheriff of Yolo. A citizen who met the suspected murderer on the day of the killing saw him in jail to-day. He thinks he is the same man.

The Cedar Creek Shooting.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The latest accounts in regard to the Cedar Creek, Texas, shooting affray are quite conflicting, one report stating that six men were killed, four mortally wounded and three seriously hurt. Another account says that only three were killed and four wounded. The officers at Cedar Creek say that everything is quiet, but that a large band of officers are out scouring the country for Wilson, the negro constable who started the affray. It was reported that he had been found in the woods and killed, but the report was not confirmed.

Kicking Over the Traces.

CHICAGO, June 15.—The Chicago and Alton railroad has given thirty days' notice of withdrawal from the Interstate Commerce Railway Association. This will be the first break that has occurred in the famous presidents' agreement, and the opinion prevails that it will have a tendency to disrupt that organization speedily. The Alton's action is due to dissatisfaction with the apportionment of the live stock traffic from Missouri river points.

Clearing House Statement.

BOSTON, June 16.—A table compiled from dispatches from the leading clearing houses of the United States shows that the total gross exchanges for the week ended June 15th, were $1,095,144,149, an increase of 17.9 per cent., as compared with the corresponding week of last year.

He Gouged Himself.

MILES CITY, Mont., June 16.—Private Fitzsimmons, Company F., Fifth Cavalry, stationed at Ft. Keogh, went insane three weeks ago. He was removed to the guard house and today he gouged out both his eyes with his thumb. One eye he pulled out and threw on the floor. The other hung on his cheek and was removed. The post physician says the disease of his brain, from which he suffers, is such as renders him insensible to pain and he appears to suffer none, though he will probably die.

Wedded in the Purple.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 16.—The Grand Duke Alexandrovitch and Princess Alexandria, of Greece, were married in the chapel of the Winter Palace this afternoon. There was a brilliant gathering of officers, diplomatic representatives and ladies. This was followed by a State dinner at which the Czar toasted the young couple.

Stanley's Movements.

ZANZIBAR, June 16.—Letters received from Ujiji, dated March 10th, say that Stanley left Tippoo Tib and sent a number of his sick followers back with him by way of the Congo. Stanley intended coming to the East Coast with Emin Pasha, and Tippoo Tib should arrive at Zanzibar in July.

The Grand Prix Won.

PARIS, June 16.—The race for the Grand Prix de Paris, $20,000, was won by the bay colt Vasistas, the chestnut colt Pourtant second, and the bay colt Aerolite third. There were thirteen starters.

Captured in Canada.

MONTREAL, June 16.—David May, of Philadelphia, was arrested here last night by a detective on a charge of having stolen $21,000 from a brick-making firm in Philadelphia.

FRONTIER TELEGRAPHY.

How the News From Oklahoma was Sent to the Press.

On April 22d the largest and most complete, to say nothing of being the most intricate, lot of circuits ever put up in the State of Kansas were arranged at the Wichita Western Union office on the occasion of the filing of 50,000 words of "Oklahoma" press news. A special press representatives' train was run from Guthrie, Oklahoma Territory, to Wichita, containing twenty-seven newspaper men with their correspondence for the Eastern papers. The train made no stops between Guthrie and Wichita, and when it reached Wichita it was discovered that the rival reporters had adopted all manner of means to get their respective "copy" to the telegraph office first, that it might have the preference in being sent out. Some two or three of them had racehorses, ridden by expert jockeys, in waiting at the depot, and before the train had fairly stopped, the daring reporters sprang from it, and, rushing up to the riders, handed them an envelope containing their manuscript, and the word "Go" was given, when the horses dashed off on a dead run for the telegraph office. Others had secured fast cabs, and yet others, not to be outdone, had secured light buggies and fixed alarm gongs on the front, that could be operated from the seat by their feet, in order to warn the street passengers at crossings to look out for their mad flight, and as quickly as possible they jumped into them and started. The scene on the route to the office was indescribable. First came a large white horse ridden by the correspondent of the New York World, closely followed by another ridden by the correspondent of the Herald; then came the buggies, with their gongs clanging as they swayed from side to side in their mad career. They were followed by the slower cabs on the dead run. The police in vain tried to stop the headlong flight. So cunningly was it planned that a casual observer standing at the depot five minutes before the arrival of the train would have noticed nothing uncommon.

At the office each man had a boy posted who would catch his horse as he dashed up. When the cavalcade reached the space in front of the office a great shout went up from the people on the streets, the various correspondents threw themselves from their horses and buggies, and made a rush for the door, which had been left open for the purpose, and all tried to hand their copy to the receiving clerk at the same time. The World correspondent (who, by the way, is red-headed and rode a white horse) was the first to file his stuff. At the operating room Chief Operator B. C. Elder was in charge, with the assistance of Night Chief Operator E. S. Bowers. A new squad had been run to Arkansas City, and was looped on all four corners to the regular Wichita-Kansas City circuits. The men were placed at a table each, and were all ready, the Kansas City operators being in waiting, and when the specials were filed they were quickly distributed, and three minutes after the train pulled in at the depot the matter was being transmitted as rapidly as fifteen first-class operators could handle it. It was filed at 10:45 p. m., and at 12:30 a. m. the last words had been sent. Manager Hackett was in attendance at the counter and distributed the "copy"; Night Chief Bowers kept business moving, while Chief Operator Elder looked after the wires. Strange to say, not one of the fifteen circuits went down during the spurt and all worked fine. Kansas City handled, the same night, 100,000 words of press matter from the various Kansas points.—[Wichita Notes in Electric Age.

A Whitechapel Victim.

In his speech at the Presbyterian Synod yesterday evening the Rev. John MacNeill created quite a sensation by telling the following tale: He was speaking of temperance, and said that last Sunday, when he preached a temperance sermon at the Tabernacle, he received a letter that had been written by a lady on the danger of the use at communion of fermented wine. The lady in her letter told a sad story of an inherited passion for drink. There were four or five of them—several brothers and two sisters—the children of intemperate parents. Her sister had, unfortunately, inherited the craving, and before she was 14 had taken to drink. The others became converted and did all in their power to cure their sister, but it was of no use. The sister at length married comfortably and children were born. But the craving for drink grew greater and greater, and at length she was sent to a home for inebriates, where she stayed a year. She left apparently, said the sister, a changed woman. Soon after, however, her husband caught a severe cold, and before going out one morning drank a glass of hot whiskey—taking care, however, not to do so in the presence of his wife. Then, as was his custom, before leaving he kissed his wife. At once the fumes of alcohol passed into her, and in an hour she was a drunk and roaring woman. She went from worse to worse, and at last left her husband and her children, one of them a cripple, through her drunkenness. The husband died two years ago, a white-haired and broken-hearted man, though only 45 years old. "Need I add," said the sister, in her letter, "what became of her? Her story is that of Annie Chapman, one of the recent Whitechapel victims. That was my sister!"—[Pall Mall Gazette.

"RED CLOUD" RESISTS.

Commissioners Bothered by the Redskin.

A SIOUX OBSTRUCTIONIST.

Pow-Wow Between Uncle Sam's Representatives and His Wards Inharmonious.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

FINE RIDGE AGENCY, Dak., June 16.—The Commissioners were informed this morning that the Cheyennes desired to have a talk in their dialect, as they did not understand the language used yesterday. Inquiry developed the fact that when the Cheyennes were leaving their camps for this caucus, the Sioux soldiers interfered, and told them that they must not talk to the Commissioners. This action indicates the policy of Red Cloud and his followers, and is in line with their conduct yesterday. The Cheyennes were given a separate audience, and the bill carefully explained in their own language. They expressed satisfaction with it frequently. It seems now that the mixed bloods are in favor of ratifying the bill, and that the opposition to it is mainly confined to Red Cloud's following.

The Sioux Indians had a council among themselves while the Commissioners were talking to the Cheyennes. About fifteen chiefs spoke in opposition to the bill. "No Flesh" and "American Horse" spoke in favor of the bill, the former saying that he would sign, no matter who objected, and if any one tried to prevent him he would make them cry. "Old Man-Afraid-Of-His-Horse," a former great chief, said he was too old to control his young men whom he wanted to think for themselves. Red Cloud's influence seems to prevail.

Raging Forest Fires.

ELLENSBURG, W. T., June 16.—Heavy forest fires are prevailing on the east side of the Cascade mountains, destroying vast quantities of fine timber. The roar of the flames can be heard for miles, and during the night the whole heavens are illumined. Lumbermen say that many millions of feet will be destroyed. Several small bridges along the line of the Northern Pacific have been destroyed.

Found Dead.

DAGGETT, June 16.—John Bahten, who had been reported missing for some time past, has been found dead seven miles from Amboy Station. The body was badly decomposed. The remains will be brought here.

Topics of the Day.

[From North American Review for June.]

THE DESTINY OF CANADA.

The destiny that awaits the greater half of the continent, now included within the British possessions in North America, is a subject of the most profound interest. If, as resulting from a commercial union with the United States, and the political consequences that would follow from an enormous increase in population, with a dissatisfaction with colonialism and the development of a real national life, a movement should set in for the Independence of Canada, it would take but a few years to achieve it. Already there is a tendency in this direction in the Canadian mind, especially among the young men of Canada; and there would be less disinclination on the part of English statesmen to favor a movement of that character in preference to absorption by the United States. The independence of Canada could result only in the creation of a great Republic, founded upon very much the same principles as those that now pervade the United States. The area, comprising now eleven provinces and territories, could be divided advantageously into thirty States; and if the movement towards a Republic should have the hearty co-operation and all the commercial advantages of a close union with the United States, no greater achievement could be imagined than to build up a great nation, composed of people of the same lineage, the same language, the same laws, and the same literature, governed by the same principles, and having the same destiny in the advancement of civilization.—[Erastus Wiman.

THE UNITED STATES AND STEAMSHIP LINES.

American steamship lines should receive such liberal pay for transportation of the United States mails as will increase the frequency and celerity of the trips of existing lines and induce the establishment of new lines, especially to South and Central American countries and to the East. Thus far, with the exception of two or three spasmodic movements in this direction, Congress has declined to adopt the policy by which foreign countries, particularly Great Britain, have secured the establishment and maintenance of great steamship lines, which have enlarged their merchant marine, increased their naval power, controlled routes of commerce, and largely developed foreign trade. The recent action of Great Britain and Canada in granting a subsidy of $300,000 per annum to secure the establishment of a British steamship line between Vancouver and China and Japan, with the object of heading off the American line between San Francisco and those countries, ought to arouse Congress to the importance of encouraging the establishment and maintenance of American steamship lines between the United States and the countries of South America and of the East.—[Congressman Nelson Dingley.

DANGER OF DRINKING ICE-WATER.

Water for drinking purposes should never be below fifty degrees. We can almost always get it, even in the hottest weather, as cool as this by letting it run for a minute or two from any household faucet, or drawing it from any county well. If not, there is no objection to cooling it to the point mentioned. The East India "monkey," which can now be had almost anywhere in this country, and by means of which the contained water is cooled by its own evapora ion, answers the purpose admirably. I am quite sure that, if ice-water should be generally discarded as a drink, the average duration of life would be lengthened and existence rendered more tolerable. —[Dr. William A. Hammond.

LARGE BEQUESTS TO CHILDREN UNWISE.

Why should men leave great fortunes to their children? If this is done from affection, is it not misguided affection? Observation teaches that, generally speaking, it is not well for the children that they should be so burdened; neither is it well for the State. Beyond providing for the wife and daughters moderate sources of income, and very moderate allowances indeed, if any, for the sons, men may well hesitate, for it is no longer questionable that great sums bequeathed often work more for the injury than for the good of the recipients. Wise men will soon conclude that, for the best interests of the members of their families and of the State, such bequests are an improper use of their means.[Andrew Carnegie.

This sale will continue until June 22nd, giving the out of town people a chance to attend this sale. Our present prices are as low as the very lowest, quality considered, but this week we propose to break the lowest record by placing our Mammoth Stock upon the market at a

20 PER CENT. DISCOUNT,

Which means one-fifth (1-5) off our regular price during this week. Nothing reserved in this Stock.

All New Styles, and No Auction Trash!

We have never made a business of making Discount Sales, but having from 700 to 900 styles, it is impossible to describe them, as well as publish the seven to nine hundred prices. We mean to make our prices through this entire stock uniformly low, so we adopt this discount sale.

Never has there been as FRESH and CLEAN a stock of Parasols offered in Los Angeles at a sale, or at as low prices during its history as a city as now.

If You Don't Attend This Sale You Will Surely Regret It!

By extremely low prices we not only intend to boom this department, but the entire house. We are still ahead, and intend not only to keep prices down on good dry goods, but also to give the poor a chance to buy high-grade goods as well as the rich.

We have always contended for a genuine article, genuine bargains and genuine treatment.

Our aim in this sale is to double our business, and make our profits on the aggregate.

We never have, and never will, buy Auction Goods, believing them high at any price.

It gives us great pleasure to be able to offer the great, thinking people of Southern California, so choice, so genuine a stock of Parasols.

MORRIS C. BAUM.

Some New Incidents Regarding His Movements.

Mrs. Clements, an English lady who arrived in the city on Saturday evening, furnished a HERALD man yesterday with some interesting incidents regarding Morris C. Baum, whose unpaid "paper" is just now creating a good deal of excitement at San Francisco. Baum, it will be remembered, was a prominent campaigner for the Republican side during the recent national election, and was also a high-flyer in the Bay City Society. He went to Europe on the 31st of March last in company with Jessie Wiers, one of the leaders of the demi-monde of the windy city, and during the last thirty days some of his promissory notes, having become due, it is found that they have been endorsed with the name of a firm the members of which disclaim all knowledge of them. Baum's presence is therefore badly desired, and it is said that he will have a lively time clearing up his entangled affairs should he return.

"Baum came across the Atlantic with me on the City of Paris," said the HERALD's informant. "We left Liverpool on the 29th of May and arrived at New York on the 5th of June. He was accompanied by his wife, at least that is what they were known as on the steamer, though I was astonished to discover their real standing when, on my arrival here, I read in the papers the accounts of his derelictions. Mrs. Baum, or Jennie, as he always called her, was quite a favorite on the boat and was a very interesting woman. She was always well dressed and in good taste, and she told me that she was bringing back to America a costly wardrobe that she had had made in Paris. Ball dresses, tea gowns, morning robes and so on, she talked about, and at the usual run of those things from the Parisian modistes, her outfit must have cost a good deal. Baum was one of the best-dressed men on the boat, and seemed to have plenty of money, for he was a good liver. They told me they had been in the principal English cities and also in Northern France, and that they had enjoyed their continental jaunt very much. One thing I noticed that struck me as rather strange. On all ocean boats it is always customary for each of the travelers to have a souvenir list of the passengers, and when glancing over mine I found that Mr. and Mrs. Baum were not mentioned. asked Jenie why it was, and she made an excuse that they had engaged their berths late, and that, therefore, they could not get their names on the printed list."

"On arriving at New York," continued the speaker, "I bade them good-bye, and was rather sorry to leave them, as they had been very kind to me en voyage. They asked me to come and see them in San Francisco, and gave me several letters of introduction, one of which is to the soprano singer in the cathedral in this city. Mrs. Baum told me that she was going to stay a little while with her sisters in New York, and added that her husband was going on to San Francisco as soon as he received some letters he was expecting. 'It will be our first separation since we were married, three years ago,' said Mrs. Baum, as she concluded telling me of her plans."

"That is all I saw of them," concluded Mrs. Clements, "and about all I know regarding their movements."

SANTA MONICA.

Incidents Yesterday at the City by the Sea.

The fact that the Arcadia Hotel had been opened, and the season thus formally inaugurated, was doubtless the cause of so many people making the trip to Santa Monica yesterday. The sands were alive with merrymakers from the time the first train deposited the early morning load to the hour when the warning whistle of the last cars citywards warned the jovial throng that the day's pleasure must end. Most of the crowd congregated to the north end of the pier, where a large seating pavilion has been placed for the benefit of those who desire to escape from the sun's rays. A little excitement was created during the afternoon by the arrival of a fishing boatwith two young sharks aboard. The gaping-mouthed fishes had fallen a victim to alluring bait far out on the green waters but quite a tussle had ensued before they were corraled. For the benefit of bathers it must be stated that the sharks along this coast are by no means dangerous and would no more think of attacking a live human being than they would of voluntarily throwing themselves up on the sands.

A natatorial feat by Mr. G. O. Green, of the Santa Fe also claimed attention. He went into deep water at the extreme north end of the beach and swam south until he passed the Arcadia Hotel.

A dozen or so of veterans from the Soldiers' Home found their way down to the ocean's side during the cool of the afternoon and thoroughly enjoyed themselves watching the merry crowd around.

Among the many well-known Angelenos on the sands were Dr. G. McGowan, Mr. Jim Meredith, Mr. J. B. Quigley, of the Burlington; Lieut. A. C. Clark, Mr. Eugene Maxwell, Mr. Clifford Thompson, Mr. Ed. Niles, Mr. R. McGregor, Mr. Cole, Train Dispatcher R. Hamilton, of the Southern Pacific; General E. E. Hewitt, Colonel A. B. Hotchkiss, Postmaster Preuss, Colonel A. H. Denker and Chief of Police Burns.

Two Insane Women.

Mrs. Jessie H. Butler was found wandering about yesterday morning in demented condition. She has been in the insane asylum before and will be examined for commitment again. She was taken to the Police Station and shortly afterward to the County Jail.

Shortly after Mrs. Butler was taken into custody Mrs. Johnson was brought into the Police Station, also suffering from insanity. She purchased a ticket for Santa Monica yesterday morning and then sat down in the Commercial street depot and took off her shoes and stockings and was proceeding to disrobe herself further when arrested. She said her husband was dead and she was going to Santa Monica to meet him.

A Los Angeles Invention.

The managers of the Nadeau have just had placed in the basement of the hostelry a new steam heater and condenser, supplying hot water for all purposes throughout the hotel. It was designed by Mr. Hiram Lenthead, the hotel engineer, and Mr. Frank Ready-make, of the Baker Iron Works, where it was manufactured. A new firebox and a set of rocking grates, arranged on a new principle, which makes a saving of about $5 a day, or twenty-five per cent. of the fuel account, has also been added. The new machinery was put in service for the first time yesterday morning, and proved a great success. It was all designed by Messrs. Lenthead and Ready-make, who talk of applying for letters patent.

President Strong.

A dispatch was received at the Santa Fe offices yesterday announcing that President Strong had left Albuquerque in the morning for Los Angeles, and that he would arrive here on Tuesday. That is the day appointed for the annual meeting of the Directors of the California Central, so Mr. Strong and Mr. Manchester, the President of the California lines, will get to work immediately on their arrival. Outside of the Santa Fe officials, the following gentlemen constitute the California Central directorate: J. F. Crank, A. W. Francisco, Charles Prager, G. H. Bonebrake and H. L. Drew.

Sunday Excursion Travel.

Each Sunday the excursion business increases, and yesterday the railroads did an astounding business. Fully 2000 persons journeyed to Santa Monica over the Southern Pacific, and the Los Angeles and Pacific will soon have to be getting some more coaches, for it had all the business it could handle. Redondo Beach was visited by a host of fishermen, and San Pedro, San Juan and the other resorts were all well patronized.

Depot Jottings.

The estimated cost of construction of the Salt Lake, Nevada and California line is $17,000 a mile.

Mr. T. K. Stateler, coast agent for the Northern Pacific, concluded his business in town yesterday and left for San Francisco.

Mr. D. B. Robinson, the assistant to the President of the Atlantic and Pacific, now bears the title of General Manager of the Western Division.

The largest number of passengers ever assembled within the Wolfskill depot at one time, congregated yesterday morning to participate in the excursion to San Pedro. It was found necessary to keep the people in line by officers in the march to the ticket office.

Theatrical Managers Trying to Get Reduced Railroad Fares.

Ever since the Inter-State Commerce law was enacted, theatrical managers have complained of its effect upon their business. Under it railroad companies have been compelled to charge theatrical parties full fares, whereas a liberal reduction was granted before. Besides, extra rates are now charged on all excess of baggage and scenery carried by theatrical troupes, so that many managers have been obliged to withdraw their companies from the road. Manager Edward E. Rice, who has three traveling theatrical companies, thinks that the time has come for some action for the protection of his profession, and he has invited all the managers in this country who are opposed to the working of the Inter-State Commerce law to a meeting at the Madison Square Theater, Monday, May 27th, at 1 p. m. It is proposed that the managers organize a protective association and employ an attorney to represent them before the Inter-State Commission, in the hope of getting some concession before the opening of the next dramatic season.

"We have to pay the same railroad fares as any private citizen," said Mr. Rice to a World reporter yesterday. "Traveling is a part of our business, and if the people of Western cities want to see our plays as well presented as they are in New York, the railroad companies ought to afford special facilities to the theatrical profession. The Inter-State Commission should relax its vigorous policy and allow us some rights. A drummer traveling for a wholesale house is entitled to a mileage book, but a railroad company cannot sell a mileage book to a dramatic troupe of fifty people."

"I had to give up the traveling business," said Carl Hermann, of the Standard Theatre. "The railroads and the hotels are reaping all the benefits of the business, nowadays. I am in favor of appointing some prominent lawyer to wait upon the Inter-State Commission. I feel sure that if the matter is presented in the right light we can secure some concessions. Fifty people who travel together are entitled to more privileges than one single person, and the railroad companies ought to unite in doing what they can to help our cause. Of course, we will be represented at the Madison Square Theatre meeting."

Manager John R. Rogers, of the Fifth Avenue Theater, was very enthusiastic yesterday over the proposed scheme.

"In every other business a reduction is made on wholesale orders," said he, "and it ought to be the same with theatrical companies traveling by rail. Why should the railroads impose upon actors, who are the most liberal people in the world, and the most responsive to calls of charity? Yet they get no more consideration than a mere tramp, who may make but one trip in a year, without benefiting the railroads, directly or indirectly, beyond paying his fare for that trip. The railroad companies know that professional people must travel, and consequently they squeeze us."

Albert Aronson, of the Casino, acknowledged that the scheme was not a bad one, but was afraid that it was a little too late to make an attempt now. The Aronsons are but little interested in the traveling business at present. Charles Barton, of the Casino, said, however, that the Casino companies had paid over $10,000 during the past season for railroad fares.

Frank W. Sanger, President of the Broadway Theater Company, said that the theatrical managers of America were the only people in the world doing a legitimate business who had not organized a mutual protective club. He favored Manager Rice's movement.

"We have four or five companies on the road every season," said Frank McKee, representing Hoyt & Thomas, of the Bijou Theater, "and I am willing to give $100 towards securing the services of a first-class lawyer. We certainly ought to be protected."

"Mr. Jacobs offered to give $500 towards the employment of a lawyer to fight the Inter-State Commerce bill when it was first brought up," said Manager Edwards, of Jacobs' Third Avenue Theater. "There is $53,000 in the Actors' Fund now, and I propose that something be taken from that source to pay a lawyer to work in our interest. Bob Ingersoll seems to me the right man for that business."

Daniel Frohman, of the Lyceum Theater, said he was bitterly opposed to the bill as it stood, and that he would do all he could to have it amended.—[N. Y. World.

Cards to our reception have been sent to the De Culture girls, whose father failed last week."—[New York Weekly.

DISEASES OF FEMALES.

OFFICE:

In the Hollenbeck Block, cor. Spring and Second sts., Los Angeles, Cal.

Oxygen, Compound Oxygen, Nitrous Oxide, and other inhalations, used in all

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS.

We have introduced the COMPOUND OXYGEN TREATMENT with our systems of practic in the cure of Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption Dyspepsia, Insomnia, Sore Throat, Catarrh Rheumatism and Nervous Prostration, whil only the most improved methods are employe in all female complaints.

As is well known, oxygen is the life-giving principle in the air we breathe and ozone in the air imparts that happy and buoyant feeling after thunderstorms. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and cause doors and windows to be opened, tear off collars, loosen the waist, and call for a fan to displace the stifling and bring fresher air or more oxygen. Traveling is done mainly to resorts where the air contains more oxygen, and mountains are ascended to breathe the ozone, which is light and ascends from the earth.

Oxygen and ozone are gases, and must be stored up and used by inhaling them. Our apparatus for storing and having these gases, compounded with other suitable agents, is perfect; and, although they are not a cure-all, yet they are undoubtedly the greatest invention made in the last 20 years in any department of medicine, and the results are truly wonderful.

Oxygen acts by purifying the blood, thereby increases the circulation, promotes absorption, improves digestion and assimilation, increases the capability of the lungs, and acts as a gentle stimulant to the nervous system.

The London, England, Lancet, very truthfully says: "The Compound Oxygen treatment is the greatest discovery of the Nineteenth Century." Clergymen, statesmen, lawyers, doctors, and all classes indiscriminately, wherever it is introduced, both use and recommend it.

The testimonials given below are very fair samples as to the time required for effecting cures in these troublesome diseases:

Dr. Williams—DEAR SIR: I am happy to say that the cure you effected in me for a severe case of throat disease has proved to be permanent. For over a year I was troubled with post-nasal catarrh and granulated throat disease, and had done so much for it that I had little hopes of ever being cured, when I first went to you, but you gave me such positive assurance that you could cure me that I began your treatment, and in four months from that time you discharged me as cured, and I am happy to say the cure was a permanent thing in every particular up to the presen time, which is now over a year. Yours very truly, MRS. LUCY H. TRASK,

809 South Olive street, Los Angeles, Cal.

Dr. M. Hilton Williams—DEAR SIR: I have been contemplating for some time past making a statement of my case and the benefit I have derived from your treatment, remembering how glad I would have been could I have seen something of the kind from a person in the city, to whom I could have referred, when I first came to Los Angeles from my home in New York State.

I had been suffering for several years with what various physicians in the East pronounced "chronic ulcerated laryngitis." I spent considerable time at the Clifton Sanitarium, and employed the best medical skill I could find, all without any permanent benefit, and as a last resort our family physician recommended Los Angeles. For a time I improved, and then I began to go backward and all my former symptoms returned.

Through a medial friend I was induced to try your treatment. I became very much discouraged at times, but persevered, as I felt almost desperate and knew of nothing else to turn to. My throat trouble being aggravated by a serious stomach difficulty, made it very obstinate to deal with, but at last, after persevering for a time with your remedies, I consider I am permanently cured. If this will be of any value to you, you are at perfect liberty to use it; also to refer anyone to my mother, my husband or myself. Very truly yours,

MRS. J. D. WILEY,
